and a Professional Human Being™ perspective to the table.

Ginger has worked with YPO and WPO members and Forums as a coach, facilitator and speaker for over 14 years. She brings a breadth and depth of experiences, including masterful coaching and facilitation, business acumen, and high performance in sports (top national competitor in dog agility and conformation showing, former ski racer) and music (performed with the Boston Pops Orchestra at the age of 16).

Ginger is a Master Certified Coach and served on the Board of Directors of the International Coach Federation. She is the author of Wag, Live, Love – What Dogs Teach Us About Happiness and Life, and has been cited in Harvard Business Review, CNN.com, Forbes, Fast Company, CBS and ABC News radio and other media.

Ginger is passionate about connection, growth, dogs, music, the outdoors and laughter. She also enjoys the humility gained from spending time on the golf course. A graduate of Boston University with a Bachelor of Music, Ginger also did graduate work in accounting and coaching, and continues to love learning, every day. A former Bostonian, Ginger lives in the spectacular mountain town of Durango, Colorado.
